Programme of the Workshop on Prosodic features of language learners' fluency

1st of July 2024, University of Leiden, Satellite event of Speech Prosody 2024

Organisers: Jürgen Trouvain, Bernd Möbius (Saarland University) & Nivja de Jong (Leiden University)

Location: Lipsius building room 1.47, Cleveringaplaats 1, 2311 BD Leiden

08:45 - 09:00	Check-in
09:00 - 09:10	Welcome
	Chair: Nivja de Jong
09:10 - 09:50	Keynote:
	Lieke van Maastricht (Radboud University Nijmegen)
	Relating L2 prosody production and perception to fluency: Can gesture help?
09:50 - 10:30	Chair: Loredana Schettino
09:50 - 10:10	Lucia Mareková & Štefan Beňuš (Constantine the Philosopher University, Nitra, Slovakia)
	How complexity affects the relationship among speech fluency parameters in (non-) native task-based conversations
10:10 - 10:30	Patrik Hrabánek Amsterdam Center for Language and Communication, Amsterdam) & Willemijn Heeren (Leiden University Centre for Linguistics, The Netherlands)
	Disfluency behavior over time in non-contemporaneous L2 English voice messages
10:30 - 10:50	Coffee
10:50 - 12:10	Chair: Willemijn Heeren
10:50 - 11:10	Noriko Nakanishi (Kobe Gakuin University, Japan) & Sylvain Coulange (University Grenoble Alpes, France)
	Measuring speech rhythm through automated analysis of syllabic prominences
11:10 - 11:30	Katherine Fraser, Joan Carles Mora & Mireia Ortega (University of Barcelona, Spain)
	Examining the relationship between speech rhythm, fluency measures and comprehensibility/accentedness ratings in L2 English speech
11:30 - 11:50	Christopher Sappok (University of Cologne, Germany)
	German non-L1-background children's reading fluency - evidence from the longitudinal audio (LAUDIO) corpus on post elementary school development
11:50 - 12:10	Valentin Kany & Jürgen Trouvain (Saarland University, Saarbrücken, Germany)
	Semiautomatic support of speech fluency assessment by detecting filler particles and determining speech tempo
12:15 - 13:15	Lunch

13:20 - 14:00 Keynote: Malte Belz (Humboldt University Berlin, Germany) Methodological challenges in L2 fluency research 14:00 - 14:20 May Wu, Rasmus Steinkrauss & Wander Lowie (University of Groningen, The Netherlands) Fluency measures and L2 speaking proficiency levels 14:20 - 14:40 Coffee Chair: Štefan Beňuš 14:40 - 15:00 Nigel Ward (The University of Texas at El Paso, USA) Four pragmatic functions associated with different aspects of disfluency in American English dialog 15:00 - 15:20 Loredana Schettino (Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, Italy), Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) & Marta Maffia (University of Naples L'Orientale, Naples, Italy) Does L2 (dis)fluency improve with proficiency? An exploration on Italian learners of German 15:20 - 15:40 Zezhou Xing & Sasha Calhoun (Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand) How does L2 learners' prosody perception affect their listening fluency? 15:40 - 16:00 Simon Wehrle & Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) Longer silence duration in L2 conversations is modulated by proficiency: Evidence from turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 Coffee 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle 16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 25th Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress		Chair: Bernd Möbius
Methodological challenges in L2 fluency research 14:00 - 14:20 May Wu, Rasmus Steinkrauss & Wander Lowie (University of Groningen, The Netherlands) Fluency measures and L2 speaking proficiency levels 14:40 - 15:00 Coffee Chair: Štefan Beňuš Nigel Ward (The University of Texas at El Paso, USA) Four pragmatic functions associated with different aspects of disfluency in American English dialog 15:00 - 15:20 Loredana Schettino (Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, Italy), Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) & Marta Maffia (University of Naples L'Orientale, Naples, Italy) Does L2 (dis)fluency improve with proficiency? An exploration on Italian learners of German 15:20 - 15:40 Zezhou Xing & Sasha Calhoun (Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand) How does L2 learners' prosody perception affect their listening fluency? 15:40 - 16:00 Simon Wehrle & Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) Longer silence duration in L2 conversations is modulated by proficiency: Evidence from turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 Coffee 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle 16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress	13:20 - 14:00	Keynote:
14:00 - 14:20 May Wu, Rasmus Steinkrauss & Wander Lowie (University of Groningen, The Netherlands) Fluency measures and L2 speaking proficiency levels 14:20 - 14:40 Coffee Chair: Stefan Beňuš 14:40 - 15:00 Nigel Ward (The University of Texas at El Paso, USA) Four pragmatic functions associated with different aspects of disfluency in American English dialog 15:00 - 15:20 Loredana Schettino (Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, Italy), Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) & Marta Maffia (University of Naples L'Orientale, Naples, Italy) Does L2 (dis)fluency improve with proficiency? An exploration on Italian learners of German 15:20 - 15:40 Zezhou Xing & Sasha Calhoun (Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand) How does L2 learners' prosody perception affect their listening fluency? 15:40 - 16:00 Simon Wehrle & Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) Longer silence duration in L2 conversations is modulated by proficiency: Evidence from turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 Coffee 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle 16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress		Malte Belz (Humboldt University Berlin, Germany)
Netherlands) Fluency measures and L2 speaking proficiency levels 14:20 - 14:40 Coffee Chair: Štefan Beňuš 14:40 - 15:00 Nigel Ward (The University of Texas at El Paso, USA) Four pragmatic functions associated with different aspects of disfluency in American English dialog 15:00 - 15:20 Loredana Schettino (Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, Italy), Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) & Marta Maffia (University of Naples L'Orientale, Naples, Italy) Does L2 (dis)fluency improve with proficiency? An exploration on Italian learners of German 15:20 - 15:40 Zezhou Xing & Sasha Calhoun (Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand) How does L2 learners' prosody perception affect their listening fluency? 15:40 - 16:00 Simon Wehrle & Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) Longer silence duration in L2 conversations is modulated by proficiency: Evidence from turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 Coffee 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle 16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 26:40 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress		Methodological challenges in L2 fluency research
14:20 - 14:40 Coffee Chair: Štefan Beňuš 14:40 - 15:00 Nigel Ward (The University of Texas at El Paso, USA) Four pragmatic functions associated with different aspects of disfluency in American English dialog 15:00 - 15:20 Loredana Schettino (Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, Italy), Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) & Marta Maffia (University of Naples L'Orientale, Naples, Italy) Does L2 (dis)fluency improve with proficiency? An exploration on Italian learners of German 15:20 - 15:40 Zezhou Xing & Sasha Calhoun (Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand) How does L2 learners' prosody perception affect their listening fluency? Simon Wehrle & Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) Longer silence duration in L2 conversations is modulated by proficiency: Evidence from turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 Coffee 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Hollstic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 27:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress	14:00 - 14:20	• • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • •
Chair: Štefan Beňuš 14:40 - 15:00 Nigel Ward (The University of Texas at El Paso, USA) Four pragmatic functions associated with different aspects of disfluency in American English dialog 15:00 - 15:20 Loredana Schettino (Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, Italy), Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) & Marta Maffia (University of Naples L'Orientale, Naples, Italy) Does L2 (dis)fluency improve with proficiency? An exploration on Italian learners of German 15:20 - 15:40 Zezhou Xing & Sasha Calhoun (Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand) How does L2 learners' prosody perception affect their listening fluency? 15:40 - 16:00 Simon Wehrle & Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) Longer silence duration in L2 conversations is modulated by proficiency: Evidence from turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 Coffee 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle 16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress		Fluency measures and L2 speaking proficiency levels
Chair: Štefan Beňuš 14:40 - 15:00 Nigel Ward (The University of Texas at El Paso, USA) Four pragmatic functions associated with different aspects of disfluency in American English dialog 15:00 - 15:20 Loredana Schettino (Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, Italy), Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) & Marta Maffia (University of Naples L'Orientale, Naples, Italy) Does L2 (dis)fluency improve with proficiency? An exploration on Italian learners of German 15:20 - 15:40 Zezhou Xing & Sasha Calhoun (Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand) How does L2 learners' prosody perception affect their listening fluency? 15:40 - 16:00 Simon Wehrle & Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) Longer silence duration in L2 conversations is modulated by proficiency: Evidence from turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 Coffee 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle 16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress
14:40 - 15:00 Nigel Ward (The University of Texas at El Paso, USA) Four pragmatic functions associated with different aspects of disfluency in American English dialog 15:00 - 15:20 Loredana Schettino (Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, Italy), Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) & Marta Maffia (University of Naples L'Orientale, Naples, Italy) Does L2 (dis)fluency improve with proficiency? An exploration on Italian learners of German 15:20 - 15:40 Zezhou Xing & Sasha Calhoun (Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand) How does L2 learners' prosody perception affect their listening fluency? 15:40 - 16:00 Simon Wehrle & Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) Longer silence duration in L2 conversations is modulated by proficiency: Evidence from turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 Coffee 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle 16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress	14:20 - 14:40	Coffee
Four pragmatic functions associated with different aspects of disfluency in American English dialog 15:00 - 15:20 Loredana Schettino (Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, Italy), Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) & Marta Maffia (University of Naples L'Orientale, Naples, Italy) Does L2 (dis)fluency improve with proficiency? An exploration on Italian learners of German 15:20 - 15:40 Zezhou Xing & Sasha Calhoun (Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand) How does L2 learners' prosody perception affect their listening fluency? Simon Wehrle & Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) Longer silence duration in L2 conversations is modulated by proficiency: Evidence from turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 Coffee 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle 16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress		Chair: Štefan Beňuš
English dialog 15:00 - 15:20 Loredana Schettino (Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, Italy), Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) & Marta Maffia (University of Naples L'Orientale, Naples, Italy) Does L2 (dis)fluency improve with proficiency? An exploration on Italian learners of German 15:20 - 15:40 Zezhou Xing & Sasha Calhoun (Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand) How does L2 learners' prosody perception affect their listening fluency? 15:40 - 16:00 Simon Wehrle & Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) Longer silence duration in L2 conversations is modulated by proficiency: Evidence from turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 Coffee 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle 16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress	14:40 - 15:00	Nigel Ward (The University of Texas at El Paso, USA)
(University of Cologne, Germany) & Marta Maffia (University of Naples L'Orientale, Naples, Italy) Does L2 (dis)fluency improve with proficiency? An exploration on Italian learners of German 15:20 - 15:40 Zezhou Xing & Sasha Calhoun (Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand) How does L2 learners' prosody perception affect their listening fluency? 15:40 - 16:00 Simon Wehrle & Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) Longer silence duration in L2 conversations is modulated by proficiency: Evidence from turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 Coffee 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle 16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress 17:20 - 17:30 Closing Remarks		·
German 15:20 - 15:40 Zezhou Xing & Sasha Calhoun (Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand) How does L2 learners' prosody perception affect their listening fluency? 15:40 - 16:00 Simon Wehrle & Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) Longer silence duration in L2 conversations is modulated by proficiency: Evidence from turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 Coffee 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle 16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress 17:20 - 17:30 Closing Remarks	15:00 - 15:20	(University of Cologne, Germany) & Marta Maffia (University of Naples L'Orientale,
How does L2 learners' prosody perception affect their listening fluency? Simon Wehrle & Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) Longer silence duration in L2 conversations is modulated by proficiency: Evidence from turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 Coffee 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress 17:20 - 17:30 Closing Remarks
15:40 - 16:00 Simon Wehrle & Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany) Longer silence duration in L2 conversations is modulated by proficiency: Evidence from turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 Coffee 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle 16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress 17:20 - 17:30 Closing Remarks	15:20 - 15:40	Zezhou Xing & Sasha Calhoun (Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand)
Longer silence duration in L2 conversations is modulated by proficiency: Evidence from turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 Coffee 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress 17:20 - 17:30 Closing Remarks		How does L2 learners' prosody perception affect their listening fluency?
turn-timing in German and Italian 16:00 - 16:20 16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle 16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress 17:20 - 17:30 Closing Remarks	15:40 - 16:00	Simon Wehrle & Simona Sbranna (University of Cologne, Germany)
16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle 16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress 17:20 - 17:30 Closing Remarks		•
16:20 - 17:20 Chair: Simon Wehrle 16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress 17:20 - 17:30 Closing Remarks	16:00 16:20	Caffee
16:20 - 16:40 Papa Séga Wade, Mihai Andries, Ioannis Kanellos (IMT Atlantique, Brest, France) & Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress 17:20 - 17:30 Closing Remarks
Thierry Moudenc (Orange Labs, Lannion, France) Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers 16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress 17:20 - 17:30 Closing Remarks
16:40 - 17:00 Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany) Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress 17:20 - 17:30 Closing Remarks	10.20 - 10.40
Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension 17:00 - 17:20 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress 17:20 - 17:30 Closing Remarks		Holistic trimodal evaluation of fluency: audio, transcription, and fluency markers
 Seth Wiener, Adam Bramlett, Bianca Brown & Jocelyn Dueck (Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress Closing Remarks 	16:40 - 17:00	Sarah Waldmann (Free University Berlin, Germany)
University, Pittsburgh, USA) Should we stress fluency or teach fluent stress? Acoustic analysis and fluency judgments of L2 Italian stress 17:20 - 17:30 Closing Remarks		Rhythm properties of L2 German and the perceptual dimension judgments of L2 Italian stress 17:20 - 17:30 Closing Remarks	17:00 - 17:20	, , ,
		·
	17:20 - 17:30	Closing Remarks
	17:30 -	Reception